

The Manteis Project

AMBIENT / QUANTUM ARCHITECTURE • SEATTLE, WA • EST. 2024

Ambient architecture from the intersection of data, frequency, and presence. Four transmissions mapping the terrain between void and signal.

// BIOGRAPHY

The Manteis Project is the ambient architecture arm of Manteis Recordings — a solo exploration of sound as structural blueprint. Where most ambient music creates atmosphere, The Manteis Project builds rooms you can stand in. Four releases chart a progression from foundational drone (The Source, 20 tracks of generative architecture) through quantum geometry (Continuous, Foundations) to the atmospheric precision of Violet Cirrus. Each release treats frequency as a building material — not decoration, not mood, but load-bearing structure. The work draws from the lineage of Brian Eno, Stars of the Lid, and Steve Roach, but rejects the genre's passivity. This is not background music. This is foundation music.

// KEY TRACKS FOR SYNC PLACEMENT

Violet Cirrus

70 BPM • 8:42

Layered drone with upper-harmonic shimmer. Contemplative sequences, scientific visualization, architectural reveals.

Continuous

60 BPM • 12:15

Long-form generative ambient. Time-lapse, slow cinema, extended meditation.

The Source

50 BPM • 20:00

20-track generative suite. Installation work, long-form media.
